

NTI Day 4 Packet

1. Imagine that you work in the marketing department of an innovation design company. Your company is getting ready to bring a revolutionary product onto the market. The product is the "Perfect Employee". Market this new product so that every company will want to buy it. To do this, you must prepare a three-minute speech. During this speech, you must describe how this product works and its benefits to every entity (business establishment) out there. The items to include are:
 - Has a name
 - Shows flexibility, determination, enthusiasm, and positive attitude to work
 - Use of everyday examples to describe this product
 - Can use humor
 - Correct grammar, spelling, and punctuation.
2. You may write your speech below or type and print to bring to school. If you can not print before you get to class then you need to hand write it.
